in which they dwell in the summer and to which they contribute their taxes.

The reason back of this opposition of paying any taxes at all and thus fight the entire principal of taxation of their stocks is the fact that the value of their goods totals in large figures. If an assessment were levied upon these according to their cost, a revenue totaling at least $10,000 or $15,000 per year would be received from this source. The very rich who can afford these things are their customers hence a large assortment and a valuable assortment must be carried. If the principle of taxation or license fee based upon a commensurate value of stock carried or business done is established, these men know that they will have to pay well for the privilege. One admitted to the city and state officials two years ago that he valued his stock carried in Magnolia at $1,000,000. THE SHORE repeats that these men have made a mistake in ranging themselves squarely against the law and public opinion and that it would have been far better business for them to have arrived at an understanding with the tax officials and paid a fair sum for the privilege of doing business. If this matter is thrashed out on the floor of the legislature of Massachusetts, there is no question but what adequate and corrective measures will be applied to existing laws governing this matter and which have already been declared sound by the supreme court of the state:

East Gloucester

The Gallery on the Moors at Eastern Point was opened for its first exhibition this season on Thursday. The Gallery, which is made possible through the generosity of Mr. and Mrs. William Atwood, is getting to be quite a prominent feature of the East Gloucester life. It is superintended by Daniel Brewster.

The recent big bridge party held at the Hawthorne Inn casino, under the auspices of the Hawthorne Inn unit of the Gloucester Red Cross, netted $246.50, for the benefit of the Red Cross and the French wounded. Twenty dollars was added to this fund by Mrs. W. A. Hill and Mrs. W. Harriett Ridgely, whose small card party and apron sale at the Inn brought forth this amount for the same benefit. The ladies of the Inn are busy sewing and knitting and they meet all day on Mondays and Thursday for Red Cross work.

Late arrivals at Good Harbor Beach Inn:—Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Whittemore and children, Nashua; Edwina A. Miller, Lida B. Marsan, Elizabeth Frothingham, Maud L. Balch, Fay Wheeler, Springfield; Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Hayes, Christine Hayes, Mr. and Mrs. Horace G. Gale, Natick; Mrs. Arthur B. Shepard, Miss Geraldine, Arthur B. and Thomas R. Hendricksen, Orange; W. O'Callaghan, Mrs. W. H. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Jones, Boston; Dr. and Mrs. E. M. Pond, Miss Adela and Master Neddie Pond, H. H. Ross, Rutland, Vt.; Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Henderson, Miss Hazel Henderson, Hudson; Mrs. E. A. James, Marion S. Gregory, Lynchburg, Va.

Mrs. Allen Farmer and Percy Atherton of Boston won the golf tournament tennis tournament in the mixed doubles at the Bass rocks club with the Siamese minister, Prabha Karawongnee and Miss Katherine Remick second. No scores were posted.

The week has been a busy one as regards Red Cross work. Some 100 women of the colony on the average, are actively employed in devising the many articles needed by the boys in the trenches and on the deck of the ships. The handiwork is said to be excellent and serviceable. Entertaining goes on in a quiet way. Mrs. Worden entertained five at tea Tuesday; Mrs. William Reed had twelve; Mrs. Heberle, of the city proper, entertained five; Mrs. Frank Rogers, of the Moorland, entertained a small party. Saturday afternoon Miss Elizabeth Dearborn gave a small bridge party.

A men's handicap golf tourney was begun Wednesday and the proceeds will go to the Red Cross fund. Tuesday a two ball foursome stroke competition of 18 knots is scheduled.

The Rockport Shore

years ago and it achieved its object.

Now it is said that hotel men both at shore and mountain bewail the lack of young men and the consequent falling off in patronage. All the young men who count or the greater portion of them, are away at the military camps or naval stations and it is said that it is almost impossible to get a cottage or hotel accommodations within twenty miles of Plattsburg so great is the demand.

We put this sage observation under Rockport caption for the reason that the people of this locality have had tangible evidence of the soundness of the reasoning. Let it be known that a squadron of the battleships or a part of the fleet will rendezvous at Rockport and immediately hotel and cottage accommodations are at a premium. Gold lace and men aplenty. The attraction of the uniform is most potent and converts an average season into one with a substantial balance on the right side.

Therefore it is up to some of the politicians, who are looking out for the interests of their constituents to get some kind of an encampment in this locality and ensure the success of the summer season. Essex county has many such places adapted for the purpose. Stage fort park at Gloucester, for instance, offers a fine site for an aviation school fronting on Gloucester bay with an unrivalled chance for the accommodation of sea planes. We've made one of the biggest appropriations on record for building several thousands of these machines and teaching several thousand of desirable, alert young men of the right kind, their use. A couple of thousand men or officers, aviators, or others could be taken care of on this tract which the city would willingly turn over for the purpose. During the Civil and Spanish wars companies were quartered here and during the Spanish war the Fifth regiment of Massachusetts was mobilized at Eastern point for several weeks. So the idea is not impractical the place having been availed of for the purpose before. The suggestion is put out to the hotel and business men generally, so if this war lasts for two or three years more, as now seems likely, some sort of an aviation or officers school may be established here, training for active duties at the front.

The extensive tract in the center of the Cape, comprising thousands of acres, high, well drained, healthful, to which a supply of water can easily be piped, known as Dogtown commons, would furnish an ideal concentration site and practise ground. Troops could be easily shipped by the very shortest route to the front in France from Rockport harbor which can float the navies of the world. Steamers of the deepest draft may sail right into the docks and depart with ease. This combination of concentration camp and shipping point cannot be beaten or approached. No tiresome journeys in box cars from the encampment to the sailing point if this scheme were adopted. No danger of railroad accidents, etc. Well, we've furnished the big idea. Now its up to the hotel and business men to get busy.

W. H. Calder, a native of Rockport, is spending the summer at the Granite Shore.

Other arrivals here are:—Miss Kitty Brady, Boston; Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Treadwell, West Somerville, Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Rumry, Stoughton; Charles E. Sullivan, Boston; R. C. Benneman, Westerly, R. I.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rawson of Pittsburg who spent a week here early in July returned tonight for the remainder of the season.

Mrs. M. D. Morgan of New York is registered here for the summer.

The Annisquam Region

The hops Saturday evening at Wonasquam Lodge was largely attended by the guests and nearby cottagers.

Tuesday evening an exhibition of solo dancing was given at the Lodge by Miss Leora Pierson of Brookline which was greatly enjoyed.

Magnolia

Mention of the name of Chick brings to mind another of the figures prominent for many years in Magnolia. Many remember Frank Chick who died several years ago, a man of commanding presence and a firm friend and advocate of everything beneficial to Magnolia.

Mrs. Lucy Wadsworth of Boston is the guest of Miss Emily Gray at the Aborn.

All roads led to the North Shore Grill last Saturday when one of the best gatherings ever seen at Magnolia was entertained and made happy. Manager DelMonte claims very good business, and it must be so, judging by the long line of cars to be seen as one approaches the grill. Among those that entertained were: Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Rehn, Mrs. Maurice Joseph, Miss Ruth Welch, Miss Christine Miller, Mr. Armand Becsey, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Tampkins, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Noyes, Mr. A. E. Pickard, Mr. A. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Barbour, Mrs. J. M. Strauss, Mrs. M. S. Rosenblatt, Miss Annie Morgan, Mr. Joseph Norman, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Frank, Dr. and Mrs. S. J. Barnett, Mr. Ralph Williams.

The schedule of services for the Union chapel, Magnolia, for the 33d season, is as follows.

July 29—Rev. John McGaw Foster, rector Church of the Messiah (Episcopal), Boston.
